

"I want rules in place that serve the public, rather than private, interest. I oppose taking a vote that leads to more media consolidation. On June 2nd, I urge you to retain the current ownership rules," as suggest by Common Cause.

Further, I do not wish to be blocked out of public discourse nor regarded as a piggy bank where all of the media is here to pull me in. Lowry Mays maintains, "We are not in business to provide news and information. We are not in business of providing well-researched music. We are just in business of selling products to customers for profit." I forget the name of his company, but I believe that he owns one thousand two hundred (1,200) radio stations in this country.

For OUR government to buy into that is unconscienable. This move is totally slanted to monopolizing our minds and purses. It is political, which rules out to good of the whole country. It rules out the majority of the country - the common man. What would our Forefathers think of this?

Sincerely,
Maureen Cooley
